

Keg Purchasing and Deposit Refunding

Purchasing

- When someone comes in to purchase a keg, make sure you fill out the form in the white binder under the register and have them write down their name and contact info.
- Keg deposit
 - o If someone is buying a keg without also returning a previously purchased one, make sure you add the keg deposit to the purchase total. There is a section in Artyvd as seen below to do so.

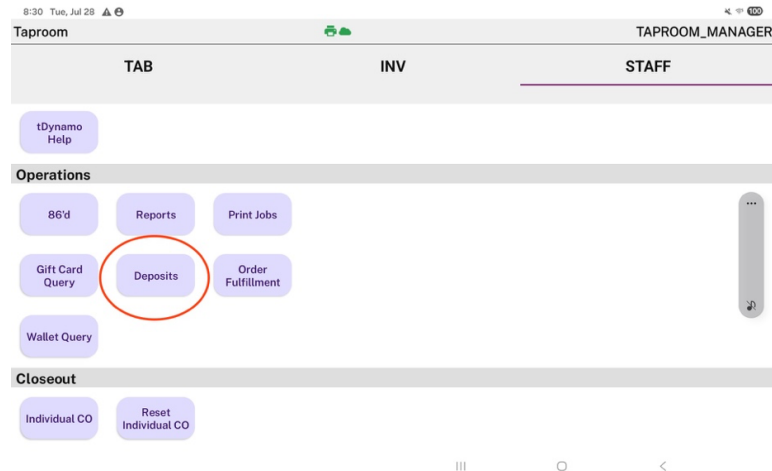

- o Make sure the price of the deposit matches the size of the keg they're purchasing.
- o If someone has to put down a keg deposit during the purchase, make sure you manually add a name to the tab as seen below. Without doing so, it will be much harder to find that customer's specific ticket when/if they return the keg for a refund. what is the step after this?

Keg Returns

- When someone returns a keg, make sure you write down the return date in the aforementioned form next to the entry that was made when the keg was initially purchased.
- Once that's done, you have to process the refund. Below are the steps for doing so:
 - 1. In Arrayvd, go to staff > deposits. This will show you a list of all the keg deposits we currently have in the system.

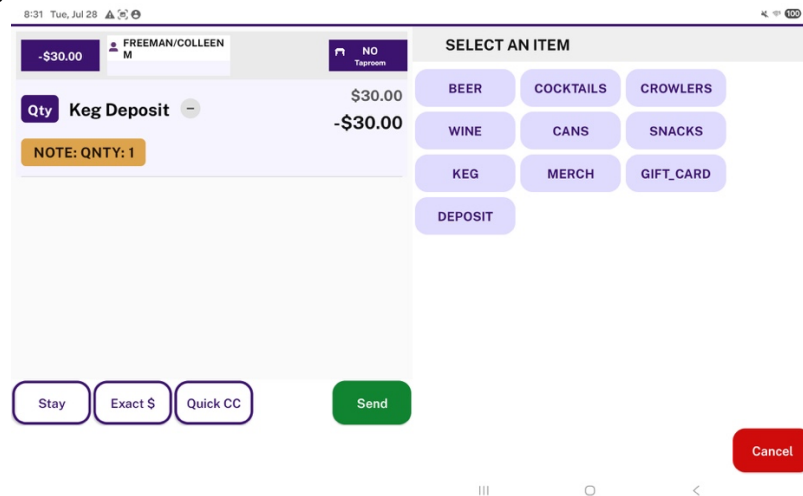

- 2. Find the customer's deposit

- If you can't find the customer's name in the deposit list, let the taproom manager and/or Nick know and they'll help you find it.

is there a procedure for the manager,
do they just return it with out finding a customer?

- 3. Follow the instructions on the screen and they'll be good to go!

does step 3 get returned to a card?

- Once that's all done, put the returned keg on the dunnage pallet and that's that.
